

Dear Church Family:

You are invited and encouraged to attend one of the Informational Meetings scheduled during the period from January 27 through February 4, 2008. Enclosed with this letter you will find a list of meetings with locations, dates and times. On Sunday, January 13th, you will be asked to make your preference known as to which meeting you wish to attend. A printed slip with the Journey of Faith Host Families and an area to make your preferences will be handed out with the church bulletin. Our Journey of Faith Administrative Team will collect the slips that day and a member of Journey of Faith Team will call you to confirm your attendance and location. Specific directions to the host home will be provided at that time. It may be necessary to adjust locations so that we do not overload any one host home.

These Informational Meetings are designed to share information about our building needs called The Journey of Faith. Information about our church's present and future ministry will be provided. We will share why this program is so important and why your support is critical to our success. No financial commitment will be asked for or received at these meetings. However, the church will be called to prayer.

I hope you will attend one of these Informational Meetings as a demonstration of your support and as an encouragement to others. When called, please be ready to answer affirmatively.

I am counting on you!

In Christ,

Pastor Brian
